MONTHLY CROP REPORT

Of Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics.

FRANKFORT, KY., July 8, 1893.

Since my last report I made a short visit to the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. I wish every farmer in the State could see the great show. I was only there three days, and spent the greater portion of the time in the agricultural department, my aim being to find something in grain and seed for distribution. I found a sample of wheat in the Australian exhibit which I considered extra fine. I thought a sample of it to Frankfort, showed it to a number of farmers. I found it was abundant, no complaint has reached me, from insects or otherwise, from any quarter. With a fine prospect for a good crop of corn and tobacco, prospects of all kinds never better, all kinds of live stock bearing good prices, surely the outlook for the farmer is not altogether gloomy.

The season for our corn crop last year was very similar to this so far, and if we succeed this year in making a good crop as last, we should be satisfied. Average 98 per cent; condition, July 1, 90 per cent.

Planning is about completed, in some few localities there are yet some planters who have some tobacco to set. The bulk of planting, however, is over. The late rains enabled the farmers to finish setting, and the work of cultivation has fairly commenced. I have noticed some fields of early acting that are looking fine. Plants have been abundant, no complaint has reached me, from insects or otherwise, from any quarter. With a fine prospect for a good crop of corn and tobacco, prospects of all kinds never better, all kinds of live stock bearing good prices, surely the outlook for the farmer is not altogether gloomy.

At his home Tuesday, July 13th, 1893, at 11:20 a.m. Mr. Lewis Hill was called to his final resting place after months of suffering. He was very old and devout christian and good citizen, and we feel that he has gone to his just reward. He leaves a wife and four children, three boys and one girl. They all, except one, were unable to attend his funeral on the morning of the 14th. His remains were taken to Addison and interred in the Stephentown burial ground by the side of his son. He was buried by the Masonic order of Stephentown and home of which he has been a member for years. He has requested there were no flowers or funeral services. His pastor, S. P. Stiles, of the M. E. church, offered a prayer at the grave. Quite a number from here attended the burial.

SOME BUSINESS MAXIMS.

Rules of a Mixer for the Proper Conduct of the Affairs of Life.

The Franklin Favorite says:

Money is rubbish in the store room of the miser. William L. Hutton, who hoarded $500,000 before his death, to prevent his wife and sons from securing it, a little old faded note book, containing some old maxims, was found in his study. It was the last thing he had passed to his reward, was picked up by a favorite reporter a few days since, and is now, for the first time, given to the public.

Search the Bible to find the bottom of the deceitful human heart and say your prayers every night. Think over every day's business at night.

Never marry until you are thirty years old.

Think three times before you speak once.

Never court any girl unless you intend to marry her. There is danger in falling in love. Never give them any advantage in a letter.

Never buy a small place with a fine building on it.

Choose a boy, white, spry, crafty and of any price, respecting to make him cultivating it.

Be the product of the farm you own on time, at any price.

Nothing in this world, but what is man.

Loan money to your neighbors.

Never should have to sue them they be no longer a neighbor.

Never let any man know anything of your business, except when you have some difference and need to sue with a lawyer.

Never keep all your money in one chance.

Watch all men, as there are but few who are honest, in fact, there are none honest from the heart in every thing.

Never let any person on earth know your business, and more especially how much money you have—not even your family.

Never buy land of any person without first having a good lawyer investigate and pronounce the title clear. Ascertain if the land has passed through the hands of any insane person, to prevent his heirs from suing you on the title. Never pay more than half down on the land unless you know you are dealing with a reliable party.

Be sure to go and ask all the parties that join the land that you are buying to show you the corners of the land they own.

If you ever own ponds or crocodiles, be sure to get a house on the square, and not inside corner, if you can, and live on the house lot and in the building that you have a complexion like a circus elephant, like in anything to other people, but anything but pleasing to the ladies.

Economy of Jersey Cattle.

PRIZE ESSAY, BY CHAS. E. KERR.

The lesson of the nineteenth century has been economy. Men consider now, not so much what has been done as how it has been accomplished. The scientific origin or culminate exactly the increase of power which an extra pound of corn beneath his boiler will produce, and the most economic amount to accomplish a certain work. The tailor and the shoemaker no longer toil and draw their thread from morning till night; the genius of the age has pointed the way to a production of shoes and coats at an immense reduction in cost. In all lines of labor and trade the rule holds true, and nowhere are its workings better exemplified than in the field of agriculture and dairying.

In the vast industry represented by cow, competition has caused new methods to be devised, and the result is the Jersey breed of cattle. The Jersey breed of cattle is now general, the Jersey breed of cattle is now general, the Jersey breed of cattle is now general.
